Brewer, Maker, Farmer, Baker Series

Save the date(s) for a stellar speaker series featuring innovators, makers, doers, thinkers, farmers, and foodies from the Hudson Valley being presented at, and featuring beers from, Industrial Arts Brewing Company in Garnerville Thursday March 24 & 31 and April 7 & 14. Check out page 6 of this newsletter for more details.

Help Wanted: Little Free Libraries

Throughout 2022, Rose Memorial Library is organizing a community-centered initiative to build and install Little Free Libraries in the greater Stony Point area in order to provide increased accessibility to quality books for all ages—but we need your help! We are looking for local carpenters to serve as building mentors, community groups (such as scout troops, church groups, or other service-oriented groups) to help build the Little Free Libraries, and tools to borrow for the construction. If any local businesses have an old newspaper vending machine in decent repair they are looking to part with, we would also love to take it off your hands. We are so excited to get this project started! Please contact Alice Meacham at ameacham@rcls.org if you have any questions or are interested in participating.

Select Programs Now In-Person!

While we are continuing to offer virtual programming and take-and-make style arts and crafts—we are pleased to announce the return of in-person programming! Many of these programs throughout the spring and summer will be held outdoors at Vincent Clark Park (Beach Rd, Stony Point) or at other off-site locations in town. Keep an eye out for the orange star that denotes an in-person program as you read this newsletter.

Play at the Library!

We are excited to announce the arrival of our activity table for train sets and building. Be on the lookout for some other new items, including a doll house, play kitchen, and Magna-Tiles. Come visit, grab some books, and stay and play for a while!

Get the Libby App Today!

The Libby App will replace the OverDrive app.

Do you borrow eMaterials from the library through Overdrive?

Overdrive is sunsetting their original app in favor of their newer, more user-friendly app called Libby. In February 2022, the Overdrive app was removed from the Apple App Store, Google Play, and Microsoft Stores.

If you are currently using the Overdrive app on your mobile device, it will still function for a while longer, but eventually everyone must transition to the Libby platform to continue to borrow eMaterials from the service. The Overdrive website will still be available at: rcls.overdrive.com

Note for Kindle Fire users: Until Overdrive and Amazon reach an agreement about Libby and Kindle Fire tablets, only the Overdrive app will be available at the Amazon App store.

Need help getting started with eBooks or transitioning to the new app? Contact Adult Services at: 845-786-2100 ext 13 or e-mail: ochrin@rcls.org to set up a one-on-one appointment.

You can also visit: help.libbyapp.com for more information about getting started with Libby.

Join the Stony Point CSA!

Community Supported Agriculture, or CSA for short, is a mutually beneficial partnership where consumers receive fresh, nutritious produce while helping to sustain the livelihoods and stewardship of regional farmers.

In a CSA arrangement the farmer pre-sells “shares” of their farm’s upcoming harvest to individuals, families and institutions. Members enter a direct and mutually supportive relationship with their farm and their farmers, sharing both the risks and rewards inherent in farming and fostering a vibrant local food community.. A CSA is about connections and making a direct connection between the farmers, the food they grow, the land on which it’s grown, and the families who eat the food.

The Stony Point CSA is with Blooming Hill Farm, an organic, family-owned farm in Blooming Grove, NY. Pickup at the Rho Building (5 Club House Ln, Stony Point) begins June 1st and will last for 20 or 26 weeks. You can choose between a full share which feeds a family of 4-6 or a half share which will feed 2-4 people. Pricing and registration information can be found at bit.ly/stonypointcsa or on Facebook at facebook.com/StonyPointCSA

Still have questions? Join us on Thursday, April 7th at 6:00 pm at Industrial Arts Brewing in Garnerville for an information session with Farmer Guy Jones of Blooming Hill Farm. You can also email your questions to: stonypointcfs@gmail.com.

Brewer, Maker, Farmer, Baker Series

Behind the Beer with Industrial Arts Brewing Company

Industrial Arts Brewing Company - Garnerville

Thursday, March 24, 2022 from 6:00-7:00pm

Garnerville's own Industrial Arts Brewing kicks off this exciting series featuring innovative makers and growers from the Lower Hudson Valley.

Sip some of Industrial Art's best brews as they share behind the scenes info about their story, process, and unique focus on hyperlocal agriculture.

Each attendee will sample a tasting flight of Industrial Art's beers.

Cutting Garden Workshop with The Parcel Flower Co.

Industrial Arts Brewing Company - Garnerville

Thursday, March 31, 2022 from 6:00-7:00pm

Join flower grower and owner of Cold Spring's sustainability and local-centric The Parcel Flower Co., Marcella Rodriguez Broe, at Industrial Arts Brewing Company - Garnerville for a hands-on experience exploring cut flower gardening.

Have a beer and get your hands dirty planting your own seedlings while learning about how to plan for a full and glorious season of cut flowers. Each participant will leave with a seedling tray of their own, as well a few dahlia tubers.

Farm Local with Blooming Hill Farm

Industrial Arts Brewing Company - Garnerville

Thursday, April 7, 2022 from 6:00-7:00pm

Blooming Hill Farm has been a staple in the Hudson Valley for almost 40 years. Join legendary founder and farmer, Guy Jones, as he discusses Blooming Hill Farm's history, mission, impact on the NY dining and agricultural scene and how you can get involved with its CSA program.

The first 20 attendees will receive one complimentary Industrial Arts Brewing Company draft beer to enjoy during the session.

Breaking Bread

Industrial Arts Brewing Company - Garnerville

Thursday, April 14, 2022 from 6:00-7:00pm

A full description of this program is coming soon! Keep an eye on our social media and the events calendar on our website.

Staff Picks

What library staff have been reading and enjoying...

Susan recommends:

"The Firekeeper's Daughter" by: Angeline Boulley

Daunis Fontaine is a biracial unenrolled tribal member of the Ojibwe tribe. She dreams of studying medicine but ends up putting her future on hold to care for her mother. Daunis falls for a new hockey recruit on her brother's team and knows there is something he is hiding. She witnesses a shocking murder that turns her world upside down. Reluctantly she agrees to go undercover to protect those she loves and her community. Angeline Boulley develops a complicated character in Daunis that was kind, funny and relatable. The author's love for her own culture is also deeply interwoven into the plot and left me thinking about it long after I was through reading. If you enjoy suspense thrillers with well-developed characters that completely transform, this book is for you.

Janet recommends:

"Alaskan Holiday" by: Debbie Macomber

Josie takes a summer job at a lodge in Alaska. She starts to fall for one of the locals Palmer Saxon. She is offered a prestigious job as a sous chef in Seattle. She has worked so hard to make it in the culinary world. She must now decide if she could leave the Alaskan lake town as she has become a valued part of the community. This is a short but enjoyable read.

Oscar recommends:

"Devil House" by John Darnielle

Gage Chandler is a successful true crime writer who, upon receiving a tip from his agent, purchases "Devil House," the site of a notorious double murder in the 1980s from which to do his research about the case. The Devil House incident ends up being a lot more complicated than Gage initially assumes. Like Darnielle's previous books Wolf in White Van and Universal Harvester, the story isn't told linearly and the narrative takes the reader down some truly unexpected paths. This novel is ultimately an exploration of "true crime" as a concept and the ethical dilemmas inherent in the genre. Darnielle creates characters who feel real—almost to the point where you could forget that the events being detailed are fiction—which really makes the final chapter pack a punch. As soon as I finished it, I wanted to go back and reread the entire thing again.

Toni Ann recommends:

"The Book of Lost Names" by: Kristin Harmel

A lighter WWII story, filled with compassion, love, sadness, and disappointment that will touch your heart. With two timelines (1940's and 2005), we follow a young woman forced to flee Paris, and learn how she helps save the lives of hundreds of others. This story gives its reader the perspective of those hiding in the shadows to help save others, and what they had to give up to do so.

Director's Note

Dear Rose Memorial Community,

As I sit down to write this note, my heart is full to bursting! Rose Memorial Library has been buzzing recently in a way I haven't seen in my nine months here. I walked through the library this afternoon and saw teens studying together, children receiving tutoring, seniors scanning the shelves for their next great read, and heard the echoes of toddlers giggling with their parents as they played with the new train table in the children's room downstairs. The energy of so many of our patrons of all ages using this space for loads of different purposes at the same time is electrifying, but it also brings into sharp focus the ways in which we are not adequately able to serve our community.

We miss in-person programming. For many years I was a children's librarian. I often ran as many as twelve programs a week, and I loved every messy, musical, loud minute of it. I deeply believe that in our world, facilitating connections through programming, community gathering, and direct customer service is the most vital service public libraries provide.

We have a problem, though. Rose Memorial Library, unlike every other library I have ever visited, doesn't have a dedicated programming or meeting room. This was an issue before 2020 when our children's room couldn't hold more than a couple dozen people at a time, and space concerns meant that while programs were happening shelves were inaccessible and checking out materials in the room was disruptive. In our current landscape, we cannot gather more than ten people in our children's room, including staff. Last summer we held story times and STEAM programming for children outside at Vincent A. Clark Park, but after the park closed for the season we were left without a place to meet in person once again.

All that said, Rose Memorial Library will be holding programming in person very soon! Beginning March 24, we will be partnering with some interesting local makers for a four-week series at Industrial Arts Brewery in Garnerville. Weather permitting, Vincent A. Clark Park will reopen at the beginning of April and other programs will be happening outside. We are also in talks with a couple of different institutions in Stony Point to potentially rent space for ongoing indoor programming. These last two are not tenable long-term solutions, as they are dependent upon many factors far beyond our control, but they will have to do until (hopefully sooner rather than later) we find ourselves in a larger building that is not only an appropriate size for a modern library but can serve as a warm and welcoming gathering space for all of our community. We remain steadfast in our commitment to serving this community to the best of our ability, wherever we might be.

Onwards!
 Alice
